Emma E. Jennings, aged 22, of Groton, applied for a change of name, asking that it be changed to Emma E. Haynes. She married William E. Jennings and Deserted in Norwich.

Because of desertion, Emma Allyn of Mystle asked for a divorce from Arthur L. Allyn of parts unknown, Her maiden name was Baker and they were married in New London and have since lived in Mystic, Layaville, Gales Ferry, Hempton and Norwich.

They lived here a year, Mr. Allyn being a weaver at the Relience mill. While living at 18 Carter avenue, Oct. 5, 1905, Mr. Allyn left the house after dinner and never returned. There was about $400 in the house which Mrs, Allyn intended to bank that afternoon, but when she went to look for it all of it was gone except $40. She did not know why he went away, as there was no reason for it. She went to live with her mother in Mystic, where a child was born six months later, makthat it be changed to Emma E. Haynes. She married William E. Jennings and they went to live at Jacksonville, Fia. but after seven months Mrs. Jennings returned to Groton and on the grounds of desertion Mr. Jennings secured a divorce in Jacksonville. She had known her husband two years before he married her, but he did not use her right, she said. ried her, but he did not use her right, she said.

Mrs. Jennings' mother, Mrs. Ida B. Haynes, told of Jennings boarding with her a year before he married her daughter. The divorce was granted April 3, 1908. C. C. Glinlian testified to knowing the family since 1906, but knew nothing about the divorce.

Mrs. Jennings was recalled and to the court she said she could not stand the treatment by her husband. Judge Case thought there was much haste in the divorce proceedings, as Mrs. Jennings left home in January, 1907, and he secured a divorce April 3, 1908. He continued the case and told Attorney Tannar to get all the evidence in the divorce case, which he will do.

Mrs. Annie Eggleston told of the family being deserted and Jennie C. Dawson knew of Mr. Allyn running away. Dr. L. M. Allyn of Mystic testified to attending Mrs. Allyn when the youngest child was born in Mystic in 1906. The divorce was granted and the children placed in her custody.
